BRAIN GRAFTING .- The surgical feat of replacing lost teeth, scalps and other por-tions of the human organism must pale ore a recent achievement in Indiana. A rising young lawyer, out hunting, was to lose a part of his skull and a considerable quantity of brains by the accidental discharge of his gun. He to define the accidental discharge of his gun. He presided nevertheless, and in the course of three months, under good treatment, of three months, under good treatment was about again, and with an ingeniously contrived mice trap door over the hole in his beal, to protect the sensitive contents of his skull from changes of weather. But the loss of so much of his brains grieved him, and it was decided to make up the deficiency with some brains of a healthy animal. A valuable horse belonging to the young man's father was sacrificed, and a piece of its brain was dropped into the youth's cranial aperture. The patient was put to bed, carefully nursed and kept in perfect quiet until the assimilating process was complete. A piece of silver plate was finally substituted for the mica covering, and the young barrister went for thinto the world again a well man, and resumed the practice of law. But several marked changes have come over his mental characteristics. He can do harder thinking than ever before, is less imaginative and fickle, and seems to have a greater amount of "horse sense." An old fondness for speech making has left him, and he has become reserved, but always apeaks to the point when anything sects to be said. Another curious thing is that he has become a devoted student of the French language—a thing he didn't care an stom about before, and the doctor say that it is because the horse they look the brain from belonged to the Norman breed. The case has many other shood do it by force. He laffed a fiendish laff and sed that ef was about again, and with an ingeniously took the brain from belonged to the Nor The case has many other features hardly less remarkable, and the young man is quite a lion among the physicians and psychologists of the re-

Two Churches in Difficulty.

Two of the more pretentions religious edifices in Brooklyn are threatened with the penalizes that follow extravagance.

Dr. Schenck's Episcopal Church, in Clinborn, a maiden lady, who had reached ton street, has a debt of $140,000, which it is reported the Sheriff is about to take steps to collect; and Talmago's Tabernacle is in imminent danger of a foreclos-ure suit to recover the sum of $20,000 friends looked at the strange message cle is in imminent danger of a foreclosure suit to recover the sum of $20,000. There is a moral in those facts which is worth considering: It is as true of thurch societies as it is of individuals, that their scale of expenditure must be regulated by their income. To run into debt and trust to the Lord for the means of getting out of it, is had economy. The Lord helps those who help themselves, and does not honor drafts that are drawn contrary to the laws of prudence which lie has given for the government of His creatures. For many years there has been a rivalry between what are known as our fashionable churches, to surpass such other in outward magnificance. Splendid buildings and rich upholstery went to have been as much objects of subtition as charitable deeds and holy living. All is vanity, suit the preacher It is a wise saying, and the embarrassment of St. Ann's Church and the Brooklyn Tabenacle were not needed to enforce its solemnity and significance.

There are sixty-nine cigar factories at Kay West, Fla. tre suit to recover the sum of $20,000.
